

Allocutio – March 13, 2011

*Crowd Contact
(Handbook, pg. 251)*

Fr. Richard Soulliere, Spiritual Director, Legion of Mary, Miami Regia

We make personal contact, one person to another person, fairly easily, but how about crowd contact, one person to a group of several people? We have to remember that each person in that group is a "priceless soul" and Mary wants us to reach each of them.

The Handbook suggests that we approach them and ask if we can say a few words to them as a group, and that this approach is generally well-received. Legionaries engaged in this work must have an unassuming and a deferential attitude. They must also realize that Mary will give weight to their words since she is more interested in the success of the encounter than anyone else.